

Ind. B. B. Tourney Next Mon., Tue., Wed.

The Third Annual Northern Michigan championship tournament starts Monday evening, Mar. 26 and will continue through till Wednesday evening, when the final games will be played for high honors.

This promises to be one of the best in recent years and without a doubt the best in the north. Teams have been asked from leading cities and also teams that have won other tournaments this past season to compete for the championship.

During this tournament, fans will witness teams representing Bay City, Mt. Pleasant, Traverse City, Roscommon, West Branch, Gaylord and Grayling, and efforts are being made to bring the winners of the Boyne City tournament here also, which is being held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week. With these teams entered, basketball followers should witness not only real basketball games, but ex-college stars of state fame.

Traverse City Elks, last year's champs, are bringing their same classy quintet. The Goddard's Sport Shop of Bay City, a team composed of the best in Bay City have notified the management they will enter and assure the people a real basketball team. Governors Sport Shop of Mt. Pleasant has also asked to enter. This team will be made up of Mt. Pleasant Normal stars of this year's squad, and should prove a real threat to the title.

Gaylord has not been in action on the local court this year but this town is always sure to send the best they have and will make it tough for any of them. Roscommon, likewise strongly represented, may prove a surprise to many, and West Branch Merchants' latest entries are a nice addition. Grayling will be represented by two teams besides the Lumberjacks, the Cubs, managed by Myron Burrows, and the Wolverines, managed by T. Wheeler. These teams have been practicing hard the past few weeks and are determined to "go places" in the coming event.

The Lumberjacks will be strengthened by William Cornell, high school coach, Bernie Ciolek, former Jackson High star, and Bates, a former Muskegon High star. These lads have proven to be clever basketball material and should bolster the Jacks up who are determined to regain the championship.

The prizes awarded will be engraved gold basketballs to winners, silver balls to runners-up and bronze medals for third place or consolation if one should be staged.

The officials will be Cohen of Western State, assisted by Cornell when not playing. The admission for each evening will be 15 and 25 cents.

Basketball fans, here is your chance to see some real basketball for a small admission. Don't pass this opportunity by—be there Monday evening and pick your winner.

Notices will be posted in the Post Office the end of the week to show which teams will play Monday, and the time of games—watch for this.

The Lumberjacks are playing Charlevoix at 9 o'clock tonight at the Boyne City tournament. This is the first meeting of these teams in years and is sure to be a ball game. Drive over and see it.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN WHITE CROSS SEALS

"The Easter White Cross Seal campaign for Crippled Children is progressing splendidly in all parts of Michigan and other states," said Paul H. King, First Vice President of the International Society and secretary-treasurer of the Michigan organization, today. "The message of Easter and the thought of the rehabilitation of the Crippled Children harmonize wonderfully."

"President Roosevelt's cordial approval of the effort has given great impetus to the movement everywhere. In Michigan, more than half the counties are already organized, and others are rapidly falling into line, most gratifying support, due undoubtedly to the appeal of the plan, in which all agencies, local, state and national, participate. A successful conclusion, now assured, means that community activities will receive substantial benefits and the fine educational and organization work of the State and International societies may go forward unabated even under present trying conditions."

The Michigan Society, already responsible for special classes in the public schools, the establishment and preservation of the work of the Michigan Commission for Crippled Children and the recent securing of an orthopedic surgeon for the Upper Peninsula, is planning a busy year with an active educational program for the prevention of infantile paralysis."

State To Distribute Pheasant Eggs

Approximately 20,000 pheasant eggs will be available from the state game farm at Mason for distribution this year, according to the game division Department of Conservation. Applications will now be considered from proven pheasant counties and suitable northern pheasant islands on the "first come, first served" basis.

Pheasant islands are areas in the northern part of the state where food and cover have been found sufficiently favorable to maintain pheasants in sufficient numbers to furnish fair hunting.

In conformance with a policy of the Department in past years, eggs will not be supplied to areas where pheasant conditions are not suitable.

Last year 23,250 pheasant eggs were distributed to conservation associations and individuals in various parts of the state. Approximately 4,500 eggs were used in incubator brooders at the Michigan State College and 8,000 were set at the game farm to maintain the pheasant stock there and rear birds for release in the game coverts.

Eggs this spring will be ready for distribution beginning about May 15, the game division reported. Shipments will be made as the eggs become available and will continue until about June 10 when warm weather usually develops.

Circulars containing instructions for the hatching and rearing of pheasants will be mailed to applicants. In hatching pheasant eggs, stated H. D. Ruhl, chief of the game division, it is important that a broody, gentle and healthy hen is selected. Invariably poor results will be obtained if the hen is not properly de-sexed or if the nest is placed in a dry location. On account of their smaller size game bird eggs require more moisture during incubation than ordinary poultry eggs, Ruhl says.

Grayling To Observe Army Day April 9

MICHIGAN PATRIOTS TO BE HONORED HERE ON ARMY DAY

Army Day, Friday, April 6, will be observed nationally and throughout Michigan for the purpose of commemorating the services of the United States Armies in both peace and war, according to announcement today by C. W. Hungerford of Detroit, general chairman of the committee on arrangements for the celebration in this state. Preliminary plans to note the day in every city and community in the state were made at a meeting of the Michigan general committee in Detroit, Monday, (March 5). Appointment of a chairman for this city will be announced during the coming week, Mr. Hungerford states.

A particular honor will be paid on Army Day this year to the memory of Lt. Rev. Magr. Patrick M. Dunigan of Flint, captain of the 32nd (Red Arrow) division during the late war, and Col. Frederick M. Alger of Detroit, outstanding Michigan patriots and soldiers who have died recently.

General display of the American flag, the holding of patriotic and memorial exercises in the public and local schools, patriotic programs before clubs and societies, and a public program, is requested throughout the state. Public drills by the Michigan National Guard and R.O.T.C. also are suggested, and merchants will be asked to add a patriotic flavor to their window displays and newspaper advertising. Showing of patriotic films in the theatres and featuring in the libraries of books dealing with the history of the Armies of the United States, are anticipated.

LETTER RECEIVED FROM FORMER TEACHER

Following is a short letter received by Leo Jorgenson from Miss Josephine Russell, a teacher in our schools years ago. Each holiday season for several years Leo has sent Miss Russell a Christmas greeting and she is just acknowledging the last one. Miss Russell taught the primary department in Grayling schools for 13 years in around the year 1900 and there are scores of grown-ups in Grayling who received their first training under her. Miss Russell who was much admired and loved by her pupils and all who knew her, resides in Honolulu.

1133 Hassinger St.
Honolulu, T. H.
Feb. 26, 1934

Dear friends:
One of the pleasant surprises at the Holiday season is the greeting from you. It so pleases me to be remembered after so many years' absence.

My Grayling pupils were and are very dear to me for my years in Grayling hold many pleasant memories.
Should so like to hear what you are doing, Leo, and if you could send me a small snapshot of you, your wife, and family should so like to see what the years have done to you.

Where is your sister? Not long ago looking over some of my school pictures I came across a picture of her and some of you boys.

Is Michigan becoming a tourist attraction? I note the winter has been very cold with much snow. Here it is like summer tonight.
Do you have a radio? If so, you may sometime hear some Hawaiian music from the islands. We get music and speeches from the mainland and on President Roosevelt's birthday we heard him speak from Washington so plainly. Is it not wonderful what is being done these days?

Shall be so glad for any news you care to write and now send greetings to you both.
Most sincerely,
Josephine Russell.

FLEET REVIEW IN JUNE

A plan of ship movements as precise as a clock are being arranged for the full fleet review before President Roosevelt in New York Harbor early in June. Probably only sailormen now appreciate the huge job of moving a line of armored ships nearly 15 miles long through the thoroughfare of probably the busiest harbor in the world at a speed of around 12 miles per hour.

Postmaster Bates To Address Higgins Camp

Thursday night of this week, March 22, the Roscommon band will play a concert at the Higgins Lake CCC camp. Following the music Postmaster Bates of Grayling will tell the boys something of his experiences in over a half century of work in the forests of this area.

Last Thursday night Prosecutor John J. Donahue of Roscommon spoke to the men of Co. 672 on personal benefits they should derive from participation in the educational opportunities the government expects to provide for CCC enrollees. His talk was inspirational. On March 29 Dr. M. A. Martozowka of Roscommon will address the men on a medical topic.

These meetings are held in the mess hall at 8:00 o'clock. Any interested visitor is welcome to attend.

Captain Vane from Ft. Sheridan is making himself familiar with the duties of District Commander for the 4th forestry district, expecting to relieve Major Mareno shortly. Captain Vane is with the 61st coast artillery of the regular army. The major has been assigned to CCC camp duties since they were begun and will shortly either take a vacation trip or report to an army hospital for rest and observation.

POTATO ASS'N. TO HOLD BUSINESS MEETING

The annual meeting of the Top O' Michigan Potato Ass'n. will be held at the Court house in Gaylord, Monday, March 26, at 2:00 P. M.

Above meeting open to anyone interested in the Top O' Michigan Potato, Apple and Seed Show, and is being held for the purpose of electing a board of directors and officers for the 1934 Show.

No Show was held in 1933 due to the unsettled financial conditions at that time and the inability of securing State aid. Prospects look much brighter this year and with State aid in sight we should be able to hold a first class show this fall. Let's all work for a good turn out at the Annual Meeting and do what we can to hold a banner show in 1934.

MISS DOROTHY MAY MARRIED IN DETROIT

Of interest to her many friends will be the wedding of Miss Dorothy May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank May, who became the bride of Mr. Edwin M. Rasinen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rasinen of Detroit on March 3rd. The nuptials took place at Apostolic Lutheran church in Detroit, the Rev. J. N. Nelson officiating at the ceremony at four o'clock.

The pretty bride was most lovely in a gown of blue with which she wore white accessories and carried an arm bouquet of roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Her bridesmaid, Miss Elsie Rasinen, sister of the groom was costumed in a frock of rose beige. She also wore white accessories and carried pink sweet peas. Mr. Ray Hagert officiated as best man. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner of very nice appointments was served at the home of the groom to the bridal party and immediate relatives, and in the evening a reception for some 60 guests was held. Mr. and Mrs. May and daughter Miss Helen were in attendance at the wedding.

The bride, who was born in Grayling, is among Grayling's popular young women. She had the honor of being Grayling's first snow queen, and she made a very lovely one. She is a graduate of Grayling High school class of '29 and of Grayling Mercy Hospital class of '32. The groom holds the commission of lieutenant and has been coming to Camp Grayling during the Michigan National Guard camp for the past five summers.

The young couple are at home at 1586 Monterey Avenue, Detroit following a short honeymoon trip to points in Ohio, and have the congratulations and best wishes of the bride's many Grayling friends.

Farmers To Meet In Grayling Mar. 29

TO EXPLAIN NEW LOAN SERVICE TO FARMERS

Short Term Loans For Livestock And Crop Production

Thursday afternoon, March 29, there will be a meeting at the Court house at Grayling to explain the features of the Production Credit Association which is a district Loan Association with headquarters at West Branch. Crawford county is represented by George R. Annis as director of the board.

This loan organization is being sponsored by the Farm Credit Administration to provide loan funds to farmers for crop and livestock production purposes. Every borrower becomes a member of the association similar to the Land Bank Associations.

Loans will be made only on good security and at a very reasonable rate. The length of the loan will give farmers time enough to repay their loan from crop or livestock production.

Each county will have a person to take application, and an appraiser to check the security, so farmers will be benefited by local service.

This educational meeting is to explain all the features of this permanent setup for short term loans, and farmers are urged to make an effort to attend the meeting and ask questions.

287,000 Fish Taken In One Day

HEAVY DRAIN ON MICH. LAKES AND STREAMS

According to a report filed with the department of conservation by Dr. Carl Hubbs of the institute of fisheries, based on an analysis of more than 62,000 creel census cards collected since 1928. Perhaps the most striking thing about the report is the fact that the 62,000 fishermen, reporting a single day's fishing apiece, showed a total catch of 287,000 legal fish.

Without much question Michigan sends at least 500,000 anglers onto her streams and lakes each year. What must be the total season's catch of these half million fishermen if 50,000 take 287,000 fish in a day? Expressed in actual figures the total would be staggering.

No better argument could be advanced for the rod license now on the statute books. Obviously natural reproduction is not sufficient to keep the state's waters stocked in the face of such a huge drain. A propagation and planting program must be carried on and it will have to be expanded as fast as funds permit if Michigan's present average yield of little better than a fish per hour is to continue.

The rod license means funds for this work. Michigan is fortunate in having it.

Out of these 287,000 fish caught in one day, 85,647 were trout—73,631 were brook trout, 1950 were Brown trout and 8,896 were rainbows. And it might be interesting to know just how many of these trout were caught in Crawford county on that one day.

Our fishing wasn't any too good last season and we are wondering how it will be this year in view of the millions of duck that have been living on the AuSable river trout for several months. This was one of the few streams that was not frozen over solid all winter, and even the AuSable froze solid in places never known to before.

If the trout streams of the AuSable valley are to be kept up, it will require, we believe, heavier stocking than has ever been practiced here before.

WARNING GET YOUR AUTO LICENSES

Because of the lack of work and the difficulty in earning a living, many things in the past have been overlooked. But now that auto licenses are cheaper, everyone driving a car must be provided with a 1934 license.

Therefore beginning on Sunday, March 25th every car or truck that appears on the streets or roads of the county without a proper license will be picked up.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

(By Congressman Roy O. Woodruff, Tenth Michigan District).

The highlight of the week's news at the Capitol was the appearance of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh before the Senate Post Office Committee to testify regarding the charges as to the alleged collusion of the aviation companies in airmail bids. Col. Lindbergh had on the day previous refused for a second time the invitation of Secretary of War Dorn to serve on a Committee to investigate airmail and aviation problems, and in his testimony before the Senate Post Office Committee he again took direct issue with President Roosevelt as to the manner in which airmail contracts had been summarily cancelled and the carrying of the mails turned over to the Army, without what the "Lone Eagle" claimed was due preparation.

Lindbergh stood stoutly by his previous assertions made in an open telegram to the President that the contracts had been cancelled without the companies being given a fair hearing, and went further to take issue with Brig. General William A. Mitchell on the question of whether the United States or Europe was ahead in aviation. General Mitchell had earlier testified before a Congressional Committee that the United States is behind Europe in its aviation while Lindbergh took directly the opposite stand and testified that America is ahead of Europe in commercial aviation and its equal in the military branches. Lindbergh further denied that he had ever received any gift of airmail stock and that he had made no money out of speculation in aircraft stocks.

His appearance and the tenor of his testimony was of course distinctly disappointing to his administration and has served to widen the breach between the President and Col. Lindbergh, a breach which Secretary of War Dorn and others in the Administration have sought to close by getting Lindbergh into the White House in personal contact with the President.

It became very apparent that Lindbergh is determined to stand by his convictions, regardless of who may differ from his views. Great crowds jammed the committee rooms when Col. Lindbergh was testifying and later he went into the private Senate Dining Room for luncheon with a corps of policemen stationed in front of the door.

That his testimony in influential with the Senate Committee having in charge the drafting of new legislation under which airmail contracts will be awarded in the future is shown by the announcement of Senator McCarran of Nevada, who gave out a statement to the press to the effect that he would present a new bill embodying the suggestions of Col. Lindbergh and Clarence D. Chamberlain, the latter of whom is also a famous trans-Atlantic flyer.

By a vote of fifteen to ten, which is the exact proportion of Democrats to Republicans on the Ways and Means Committee, of which I am a member, the bill submitted by the President giving him direct treaty-making and tariff-fixing powers was reported out to the House last Saturday. This bill is permanent legislation and if adopted would give all future Presidents the authority it proposes to give to President Roosevelt. I am so strongly opposed to abdicating this Constitutional right of Congress, that I shall speak at some length in the House of Representatives against it when the bill is up for debate this week, giving my reasons for this opposition.

Every government official or board that handles public money should publish at regular intervals an accounting of it, showing where and how each dollar is spent. We hold this to be a fundamental principle of democratic government.

RESPECTFULLY DISAGREE

When one hears a trial in a justice court and has an honest, unbiased opinion that the court had made a mistake, what should he do about it? Especially in cases where there is an under dog, so to speak.

We are not inclined to interfere in any way with our courts, and always feel that they are honest, competent and trustworthy. But we cannot get out of our mind the case of Dr. M. A. Martzowka of Roscommon, vs. Sherman Reava, in civil action to get payment for alleged damage incurred in an auto collision, recently. The accident happened at the Ogema and Spruce street crossing.

A truck, the vehicle owned by Reava and driven by Will Mosher, a son of W. H. Mosher, came to the crossing on Ogema street and saw a car coming toward the corner about a half block away. Naturally, just as we believe every one, except the most timid of drivers, would not stop but continue on. This Mosher did and, according to his and Reava's testimony had got past the intersection when the other car, coming from the right, struck it in the rear wheel, and the impact was so great that the truck made two complete revolutions before it stopped spinning, and the wheel that was struck was crushed.

According to the defending witnesses, including Sheriff Bennett, who was put on the stand by the plaintiff, the Martzowka car had its brakes applied and slid on its tires for about forty feet before the impact; and further, according to the testimony of both Reava and Mosher, the Martzowka car kept to the very outside edge of the highway and even beyond the usual driving area of the street he was using, and when his car struck the truck the latter was clear of the usual driving area.

While we have every confidence in the integrity and fairness on the part of the court, still we feel that it failed to take into consideration certain pertinent factors of the testimony, none of which was disputed. In the first place, asking ourselves what we would have done had we been driving that truck. With a car a half block away, a point that was not disputed, and traveling within the legal driving speed—20 miles an hour in a residential district—we know darn well that we wouldn't have stopped the truck.

On the other hand if the approaching car driven by Dr. Martzowka was traveling within the legal speed limit it couldn't hope to go a half block, three or four hundred feet, as quickly as a car could travel a fifty-foot roadway. And in case the Doctor was exceeding the speed limit and was not able to stop his car in time to prevent the crash, and failed to keep within the usual driving area of the highway, (in which case he wouldn't have come anywhere near to hitting the truck) then we cannot for the life of us understand why he hasn't had to answer to a charge of reckless driving.

Justice Petersen, according to his remarks, based his decision of the case according to what he believed was the "right of way" on the part of the plaintiff. He contended that as the Dr.'s car was coming from the right that it had the right of way. In this he is right provided there is occasion for dispute between the drivers of both cars as to which one had the right to pass first. Traffic regulations have decided that the car coming from the right had priority over the car approaching from the left. But we believe that that law does not apply in this case for the right of way was, in our opinion, not disputed. There was plenty of time for the truck to get across the street provided that the car approaching from the right was complying with the traffic regulations—not to exceed a speed of 20 miles an hour within the residential district of cities and villages. And further, why did not the Doctor keep his car within the usual travelled area of the highway? Was it because he was travelling so fast that he, even for an instant, lost full control of his car, which the state law says a driver must maintain at all times.

If the Doctor was unable to stop his car in time to avoid that accident then he certainly must have been driving too fast. And if he could have stopped his car and failed to do so, we cannot see where the driver of the truck was in any way to blame. If the street happened to be slippery and the Doctor was driving at an unsafe speed under such conditions he still, in our opinion, would be to blame.

These are some of the things that we believe Justice Petersen failed to consider. A car coming into an intersecting highway from the right has the right of way, our courts contend but they also declare that that does not give the driver the right to drive right along, pell mell, regardless of whom he may injure or what property he might damage. The driver of a car coming from the right has a responsibility to observe just as much as has the driver approaching from the left.

Of course this case can be appealed to circuit court but that costs money, and Mr. Reava is a poor man trying to make a living for himself and large family by hauling and selling wood or by such work as he is able to get. Prosecuting Attorney Nellist says it will cost about $10.00 besides a bond of $200 must be filed to secure the court costs and judgment in case the appellant (Reava) lost the case in that court. Besides a lawyer would have to handle the case in circuit court and this usually costs about $25 in simple cases such as this. However Mr. Nellist has offered his services in the case without costs. Notice of appeal must be filed within five days in order to be effective, and we believe that there are enough good fellows in Grayling who would be willing to put up these costs in order that the upper court may determine the question.

Dr. Martzowka was represented by Attorney Donohue of Roscommon. Reava was without counsel. Mr. Donohue says that if Reava fails to pay that he will see to it that his driving license is taken from him, which will deprive him from the right to drive his truck or any other car for three years.

With all due respect to Justice Petersen we feel that he made a mistake in this case, just as any other human can make mistakes, regardless of how honest or how smart he may be. And we don't like to see some unfortunate person take a rap for something for which we honestly feel he is not to blame.

The judgment rendered by the court imposed the payment of $61.00, the reported costs for repairing the Martzowka car, together with $8.55 court costs.

SOME SNOW AND SOME EXPERIENCE

After a pleasant Friday evening, the residents of this region might have been awakened the next morning by vivid lightning and the roar of thunder. And outside what was bare ground the night before was then a heavy blanket of wet snow. And how the snow did fall! They say it started to storm at about 3 a. m. and it continued steadily for more than 24 hours.

The writer experienced full measure of what it meant to try to get anywhere by auto in heavy snow without chains. But who would have believed that a set of tire chains would have been necessary at that time of the year? We left the Hanson Cafe at 5:45 a. m. bound for Lansing, and reached Roscommon at 9:00 a. m.—34 hours of wallowing around in the snow, on and off the highway. A car might travel pretty fair if it kept going, but the snow piled so thick and fast on the windshields that they soon were closed to vision. Looking out of an open window one's face was soon plastered with snow and one could hardly see out of his eyes. Then if one stopped to clear the windshield by the time that one could get forward traction again the glass was again plastered.

Hoping every minute that the State snowplows would be coming along, kept up our courage. Finally at 8:30 a. m. the first plow passed us just ten miles out of Grayling. We had no trouble to follow it into Roscommon but too late to continue to Lansing to attend a 10 a. m. meeting at Representative Hall in the State Capitol, so we returned home. By 8:00 a. m. 12 inches of snow had fallen, and that's a lot of snow, especially when it is of the wet variety. We're indebted to Ray Skingley of Whispering Pines gas station for pulling us out of a ditch that we slid into that morning.

Minnesota the last two years and the wonder is that more of them have not quit. There is no business in existence where so much work is done for "the joy of working" and where so much gratis service is expected. DEFINES BANKERS' PART IN RECOVERY

Head of American Bankers Association Assures President of Confidence and Desire to Cooperate Among Bankers

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Roosevelt in his address before the NRA conference here on March 5 announced that he had received the following telegram from Francis M. Law, President of the American Bankers Association:

"On this your first anniversary please allow me in behalf of the country's banks to express our full confidence and our sincere desire to cooperate in your courageous efforts to bring about recovery. The banking structure of the country is sound and liquid and banks have never been in stronger position to function effectively. Conditions have improved to the point where it is no longer necessary for banks to be super-liquid. There is a definite call now for banks, not to extend loose credits or to make improper loans, but for a most sympathetic attitude toward legitimate credit needs and for a recognition of responsibility for their proper and vital part in the program of recovery."

The Soundness of Banking

In an address before a recent trust conference of the association's Trust Division in New York, Mr. Law said:

"A depression cannot long survive a sound banking structure if the banking structure is responsive to legitimate needs and functions in a way that is vital and alive. The most cheering fact of the present situation is the knowledge that our banks are in strong position."

"Recovery, even to the most pessimistic, is no longer a myth or a rumor, nor is it merely psychological. Abundant evidence and proof lie on every hand—tangible proof. With a return of confidence the wheels have begun to go round and a great many well managed businesses may look for a profit during this calendar year with fair assurance at least. For what has been achieved let us thank the President, who has labored with courage and patience and vision. Let us thank the Congress, whose members during the emergency have put the public welfare above partisanship. Let us thank one hundred twenty-five million of our own citizens who have refused to be stampeded, but rather who have kept alive the divine spark of faith and hope."

Cause for Confidence

"We may reasonably expect that the recent action of the government in stabilizing the dollar will have a marked tendency to encourage industrial and other business commitments. Business men need not be so exclusively engaged in taking counsel of their fears now that uncertainty does not haunt them."

"Much has been said about the looting of credit by banks. During the acute period of the depression banks for the most part have not been lending normally, nor should they be blamed. With public confidence shattered the banker was properly concerned in liquidity, having in mind his primary obligation to pay off deposits. The situation has improved to the point where super-liquidity no longer seems necessary. Conditions have materially changed. Banks will desire, for every reason, to return to a more normal lending policy. This means a sympathetic attitude and a recognition of responsibility for his proper part in the program of recovery by the banker as he passes upon and meets sound credit requirements of business as it swings into and continues on the upward turn."

Public Confidence Returns

Direct information indicates conclusively that the banking situation is showing definite and steady improvement. J. F. T. O'Connor, Comptroller of the Currency of the United States, said in a recent address. He pointed out that the decided drop which has occurred in money in circulation shows that the public has largely ceased hoarding.

On March 1, 1934, the Federal Reserve Board reported that the volume of money in circulation amounted to $5,355,000,000, which was a decline of $1,077,000,000 since March 1, 1933. It was a drop of $2,325,000,000, or over 30 per cent, from the all-time peak of $7,581,000,000 reached on March 12, 1933. About one-half the decrease, it was pointed out, reflected the return of currency from the public.

Money in circulation declined rapidly after the reopening of the banks in March, 1933, and has continued since to decline from week to week, "notwithstanding the increase in the demand for currency arising from enlargement of pay rolls and increase in the volume of retail trade," the Comptroller said, which, he added, "indicates a continued return of money from hoards as banking facilities were reestablished."

Viscount Grey

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

Viscount Grey, who served England as foreign minister during the last war, died recently. At a very simple service, neighbors and friends assembled to pay tribute to the noted statesman. Quite in contrast was the elaborate memorial service held a few days later in Westminster abbey attended by United States Ambassador Bingham, David Lloyd George, Winston Churchill and many other noted persons.

From "The Life and Letters of Walter R. Page," who, during the war, was our ambassador in London, we read about the very responsible and difficult place held by Viscount Grey during the tragic period of international history. "He is a frank and fair and truthful man," writes the author of Mr. Page's biography. "You will find him the day after tomorrow precisely where you left him the day before yesterday." His power to inspire confidence was a very valuable factor in clearing up many difficult problems which were embarrassing to both America and England. His sense of humor was also an important asset. "Had it not been for the fact that both Page and Grey had an understanding sense of humor, neutrality would have proved a more difficult path than it actually was."

As an orator, Sir Edward Grey held first place. Among his most notable addresses was his appeal in parliament for peace. Ambassador Page, writing about this address to Col. Edward M. House, says, "No utterance by anybody has so stirred the people of this kingdom as Sir Edward Grey's impromptu speech. You have never seen such a rally as that which has taken place in response to his cry."

The loyalty of Viscount Grey to the ties which bound England and United States together and his determination at all costs to keep that friendship, was evidenced in 1916 when, "he resigned his office, forced out," Page says in his letters, "mainly because he had refused to push the blockade to a point where it might produce a break with the United States." The wisdom of his decision was later recognized as most judicious, especially at a time when the tension over the blockade of merchant ships at sea was threatening. Perhaps the most beautiful tribute to Sir Edward Grey is found in one of Mr. Page's letters—"It has been a God's mercy for us that we have so far had a man like Sir Edward Grey at his post."

TOWELS IN PUBLIC WASH-ROOMS

In this era of codes and special taxes, situations sometimes arise which are of great importance to the public, but of which they learn very little. For instance, in protecting one industry by holding down another, it becomes a public question how much the one is benefited, at what expense to the other, and with what results to the public.

An illustration has just come to light in the paper industry which has surprising and far-reaching results. Long suffering from demoralized conditions due to overproduction, restricted demand and unremunerative prices, it now has a new problem. Secretary Wallace, acting under authority conferred on him by the Agricultural Adjustment Act, has imposed a heavy processing tax on paper towels and other paper products, amounting to approximately ten per cent of the manufacturer's selling price. The reason given is that it will prevent a shift in consumption from cotton to paper.

However the other paper items may be treated, it is certainly to be said in favor of the paper towel industry that it has made a real contribution to sanitation in public washrooms over the period of the last decade. Paper towels are used in schools, public buildings and manufacturing plants where, in most instances, no towel service was used prior to paper, and in all likelihood no towel service will be provided if the price of paper towels, as a result of the tax, becomes prohibitive.

It is to be hoped that Secretary Wallace will take this into consideration in fixing a revised and just rate, so that the use of this sanitary convenience, which is provided primarily to school children and workmen in factories, is not discarded. It is of too great importance to the public health and the health of school children to be ignored. It would seem that, instead of bearing an unreasonable burden, paper towels should be given every encouragement. They are a distinct forward step in the direction of improved sanitary conditions in public washrooms. To tax them out of these and many other places would be a backward step in our modern progress.

Longest Aqueduct

The Los Angeles aqueduct, 235 miles in length, is the longest in the world. The seven-year construction job was finished in 1914. It diverts the entire flow of the Owens river. It is a gravity proposition with its intake at 3,800 feet above sea level and the city of Los Angeles is 275 feet.

St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty Rejected by the Senate Despite President's Efforts—Revamping of Air Mail in Progress—House Passes Bonus Bill.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

DESPITE the fact that President Roosevelt personally to a number of senators of both parties seeking to persuade them to vote for ratification of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty, the pact was defeated in the senate by a vote of 46 to 42. Thus the affirmative vote was far below the required two-thirds of those voting. Party lines were disregarded. Twenty-two Democrats voted against ratification, along with 20 Republicans. In favor of the pact were 51 Democrats, 14 Republicans and 1 Farmer-Laborite.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was said in Washington, was decidedly vexed by the defeat of a major administration measure, and he began preparations to resubmit the treaty at a future session of congress. Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, Democratic whip of the senate and one of the leading opponents of the rejected treaty, predicted that Canada would soon offer the United States a substitute treaty. This may be true, but dispatches reveal that in Montreal, at least, the defeat of the pact was hailed with joy because business men there think the project too expensive to be undertaken at this time. The President's warning that Canada would, on its own initiative, build an all-Canadian waterway seems to be met by this news from Montreal.

Chicago and the Mississippi valley are blamed by Mr. Roosevelt for the rejection of the treaty, and there is no doubt that their argument against the proposed restriction of diversion of water from Lake Michigan to 1,500 cubic feet a second were potent. This amount, according to Senator Lewis and other Middle West senators, would be wholly inadequate to maintain navigation in the Mississippi waterway. The Atlantic seaboard senators, too, were almost solidly against the treaty.

If the treaty is resubmitted, the clauses concerning the sovereignty of Lake Michigan and the Chicago diversion may be omitted; but Senator Lewis said: "So far as I am concerned—and I believe I speak also for several others—I shall not be satisfied with a mere omission, but shall demand that internationalization of Lake Michigan and the limitation of the sanitary district diversion shall be specifically renounced by Canada."

SENATOR WAGNER of New York, chairman of the national labor board, has put forth a warning that unless "misconstruction" and "evolution" of the collective bargaining provisions of the National Industrial Recovery act are checked, "we may expect to witness a vast swelling of industrial unrest with the coming of spring."

Secretary of Labor Perkins joined with Wagner and other witnesses before the board in urging the passage of Wagner's bill which would create a permanent labor board and outlaw employer influence over the organization of employees. Representatives of the American Federation of Labor demand that employers be forced to recognize the unions and predict general strikes especially in the automobile industry unless prompt action is taken to satisfy the men.

BY DIRECTION of the President, all air mail operations by the army air corps were suspended by Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the corps, and the drafting of a new schedule that would insure greater safety for the flyers was begun. When the news reached him of the deaths of the ninth and tenth army mail carriers within three weeks Mr. Roosevelt sent out word: "The continuation of deaths in the army air corps must stop." He ordered that the carrying of air mail cease except "on such routes, under such weather conditions and under such equipment and personnel conditions as will insure, as far as the utmost care can provide, against constant recurrence of fatal accidents."

General Foulois, Brig. Gen. Oscar Westover, chief of air mail operations, and various Post Office department officials built a revised "safety" route with the trans-continental line from Newark to San Francisco as the main line, other routes feeding into it. The intention was to reduce the number of trips on all schedules and to permit less night flying.

Colonel Lindbergh aroused interest by visiting Washington for two days and conferring with Secretary of War Dern. Soon after the secretary named the colonel, Orville Wright and Clarence Chamberlin on a committee to investigate the army carrying of the air mail.

Lindbergh, however, declined to serve on the committee, repeating in his letter to Secretary Dern his severe condemnation of the plan to have the army carry the air mail. Mr. Dern urged him to reconsider. Meanwhile, the colonel appeared before the senate post office committee to testify concerning permanent air mail legislation.

General Foulis has been working on a plan by which army flyers could join with commercial pilots in receiving training. The step follows a suggestion by Mr. Roosevelt that "because military lessons have been taught us during the last few weeks," army aviators should train with those who "later on will fly the mail" in "night flying, blind flying and instrument flying."

TWO hundred and thirty-one Democratic members of the house kicked over the traces and, with the aid of 59 Republicans, passed the Patman bill calling for the immediate payment of the veterans' bonus with greenbacks. The President has repeatedly expressed his opposition to the measure and indicated that he would veto it if it got through congress. Its passage by the senate was unlikely.

There were only two reasonable explanations for the revolt of the Democrats. One was put in words by Representative John Y. Brown of Kentucky, a Democrat, who was in opposition. He said: "You are buying veterans' votes. You are holding out this piece of bait to get veterans' votes this summer. There is not a man in the house who believes this bill will ever become a law, and yet you sit here and vote for it for your own political welfare."

The other explanation was that many of the Democrats are resentful of the "rubber stamp" label that has been put on congress and welcomed an opportunity to break away from dictation and, as one of them said, vote as their consciences dictated.

IN A new revolt against the administration policy the house insisted on adding more than $200,000,000 in veterans' benefits and government pay to the federal outlays in the next fiscal year. However, this was a compromise, for the amendment adopted by the house involves a total annual expenditure of approximately $90,000,000 for veterans as compared with the $118,000,000 called for under the veterans' amendment adopted by the senate.

Briefly summarized, the house measure as sent to conference provides:

1. That all Spanish-American war veterans be restored to the pension rolls on a basis of 75 per cent of what they received prior to enactment of the economy bill last session.
2. That all World war veterans with service connected disabilities be restored to the rolls on a full basis.
3. That World war veterans with presumptive disabilities be returned to the rolls on a 75 per cent basis.

In addition, it eliminates pensions for emergency officers, pensions for the widows of the men lost in ship disasters, and knocks out the so-called Borah amendment limiting the restoration of the federal pay cut to persons receiving less than $8,000 a year.

SAMUEL INSULL, whose deportation was ordered by the Greek government, his ticket bought and his train selected by the officials, vanished from his residence in Athens between midnight and morning, and for hours the police of the country were frantically searching for him. Then it was announced that the fugitive had been arrested aboard the Greek freighter Meotia, which had been pursued by a torpedo boat destroyer. Insull was bound for Kessy, Egypt, near Alexandria, and presumably was heading for either Persia or Afghanistan.

The Athens police learned from the Insull household nothing of the way in which Insull escaped from the city. They thought he was aided by "international crooks." The whole matter was causing great disturbance in Greece and a cabinet crisis was threatened.

WALTER J. CUMMINGS, chairman of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company of Chicago, is the new treasurer of the Democratic party. The place was first offered to John S. Cohen, Atlanta publisher, but he rejected it. Mr. Cummings' first task will be the raising of funds with which to help along the election of Democratic senators and congressmen this fall. Supposedly he will also raise the money for the next Presidential campaign.

ON JULY 1 the University of Illinois will have a new president in the person of Arthur Ochs Willard, now dean of the college of engineering in the university. Mr. Willard, who is fifty-five years old, is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and is internationally known as an authority on heating and ventilation.

CRIMINAL action for alleged evasion of the federal income tax law was ordered by Attorney General Cummings to be brought immediately against Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury and one of the world's wealthiest men; T. L. Sidlow of Cleveland, law partner of Newton D. Baker; Thomas S. Lamont, son of the noted financier Thomas W. Lamont and a member of the J. P. Morgan banking house; and James J. Walker, former mayor of New York.

Mr. Cummings announced that the Department of Justice had conducted a secret investigation of the tax affairs of these four men and had turned the information gathered over to United States attorneys in New York, Cleveland and Pittsburgh. Grand jury action in each of those cities was expected to result. Cases against more than a score of other men were being prepared by the department's tax division.

Mr. Mellon was quick to place his case before the people. In a long statement he denied ever having failed to pay his proper income taxes and said that in the last twenty years he had paid more than $20,000,000 in this form of taxes. He characterized the attorney general's action as "politics of the crudest sort." He continued:

"I feel very strongly that before the attorney general of the United States should bring a charge of this kind against me I, like any other citizen, should be given proper notice in the manner provided by law of the government's intention to assess additional taxes and should have been afforded an opportunity to meet such charges in the customary way."

"In all my years of experience in the administration of the tax laws I have never known of a single instance in which such unfair and arbitrary action has been taken."

By order of the President a new income tax procedure was put in force, designed to break up so-called "negligent" evasion of taxes. All tax returns which the government suspects of embodying willful evasion will be referred to grand juries for investigation of possible fraud.

JOSEPH B. EASTMAN and the Interstate Commerce commission have joined in recommending to congress legislation that will place under "the guiding hand of government control" the transportation agencies that use the highways and waterways of the country. Their report, which was submitted to the President, declares that regulation of motor and water transportation is necessary "if a threatening chaos is to be transformed into order." Such regulation, they said, should be concentrated in the Interstate Commerce commission.

In proposing changes in the interstate commerce act, the coordinator and the commission recommended liberalization of the long and short haul clause forbidding a railroad to charge less for a longer than a shorter haul, except on permission from the commission.

This clause is held by middle western interests to have damaged them substantially by preventing traffic moving by rail to the Pacific coast, and its repeal is now being sought.

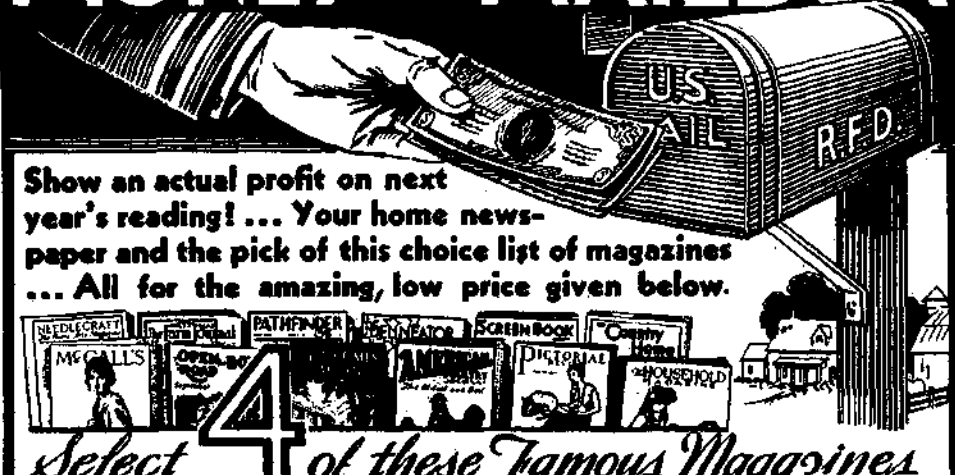

LA LIBERTAD, most important seaport of the republic of Salvador, was almost destroyed by an explosion of dynamite on the docks and the resulting conflagration. It was believed at least 150 persons were killed.

ONE of Japan's new torpedo boats, the Tomosuru, 627 tons, was wrecked mysteriously off the Sasebo naval base and it was believed most of her crew of 115 men were lost. The vessel was completed only February 26 last and was a new type, carrying the heaviest armament ever given a ship of its size. It was considered a triumph of Japanese naval architecture. Several others of the same type are under construction.

BY A vote of 15 to 8 a District of Columbia grand jury refused to return indictments in its investigation of an alleged conspiracy to deprive the government on War Department contracts.

NOTICE To Unemployed Men

During the last few months we have avoided asking applicants to report at the National Reemployment Office periodically in order to determine whether or not they were still unemployed, the reason being that there was little opportunity for securing other employment. Also that we did not want them to travel long distances merely for the purpose of stating that they were still out of work.

Due to the change in industrial employment during the past few weeks, we believe that we have a considerable number in our files who are no longer available, and in order to check our files to this end, it will be necessary to make a complete re-registration of men unemployed who still desire work.

Renewals of registration can be made by personal call at the office or the applicant may mail us a postal card, or use the phone or send the message by someone else coming in, to signify that they are still desirous of employment.

All applicants who are desirous of employment but who have not renewed their application by March 30, 1934, will be cancelled from our available list.

SHE HAD AN IDEA!

Trust the American woman to think something different and interesting even in her welfare work, as well as something that is practical. Members of the American Legion Auxiliary have announced their intention of making one million glasses of jelly for the needy and unfortunate by October 1—and thereby hangs a tale.

A little dynamo of a woman in Philadelphia named Mrs. William H. Biester, Jr., last year was national rehabilitation chairman of the Auxiliary—Working in that office, she came face to face with the urgent welfare needs in communities all over the country. And, at the same time, she met women everywhere who were willing—oh, so willing—to help but couldn't seem to get started on anything worthwhile and practical.

That set Mrs. Biester to thinking. What was one of the greatest needs among the poor? Food! What kind of foods should women make? Something that could be made easily and inexpensively, something close to the "staff of life," and something that would keep indefinitely. Then the answer came to her. Home-made jellies. And jams. The whole preserved fruit family. Why shouldn't the half million members of the Auxiliary make thousands upon thousands of glasses of these nourishing, wholesome energy foods for Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter baskets? To distribute in orphanages, in veterans' hospitals, to the needy in communities everywhere—right where the jellies were made in fact.

Mrs. Biester's idea grew roots and now the Auxiliary is launching a nation-wide jelly making project with a million glasses a its goal.

And so, next fall and winter, many a child who would have had to eat his bread with no accompaniment will have delicious jams and jellies to spread upon it.

State Revenue From Oil Wells

In seven years more than $250,000 has been turned over to the general fund of the State of Michigan by the Conservation Department, the direct income from the oil industry affecting state lands and reserved mineral rights.

This income represents royalties, rentals, bonus and fees pertaining to the leasing of state lands for well drilling.

At the rate royalties and rentals mounted in the state's returns last year and the existing possibility that the oil industry will continue to grow it is thought that within a few years it might form the basis for a substantial source of revenue to the people of the state.

So far as the state's treasury is concerned the oil industry has an auspicious beginning. In 1927, the Conservation Department reported a gross income of $4,800. This represented the rental of oil leases on state property. The following year, 1928, this new industry netted Michigan $1,918.86. The first substantial income came in 1929 with the opening of the mid-state fields. In that year royalties mounted to more than $21,000 and with rentals, bonus and application fees brought the state an income of $25,846.27.

The year 1930 with rapid developments in the oil fields yielded the state treasury $85,623.96 of which $60,002.08 was from royalties alone. Rentals amounted to more than $17,000 and bonus an equal sum.

In 1931 the state's income was slightly more than $4,000 and in 1932 it came to $30,634.

The spread of the oil industry in 1933 with increasing encroachments toward state-owned land resulted in an income of $117,204.77. Of this amount $93,184.73 was in royalties, $20,306.54 in rentals, $3,526.60 in bonus for leases and $187 in application fees.

During the past seven years the revenue has totaled $305,883.45, that being the amount turned over by the Lands Division, Department of Conservation, to the state treasurer.

Rental, under state regulations is at the rate of 50 cents a year per acre on land leased from the state. If wells are not drilled the first year the rental mounts to $1 a year. The bonus represents the highest price offered for a particular lease in addition to the regular rental fee.

In addition to the revenue derived by the state from the leasing of oil rights on state lands and the royalties obtained by the state from oil produced on this land, there is a considerable income both to the state and local political units from oil operations.

A flat severance tax of two per cent of all oil produced in Michigan is prorated between the state, the county and the township in which the particular wells are located. In addition, it was pointed out, property values rise in the vicinity of proved fields with resulting higher tax returns.

STOCK FOR PLANTING 7,000 ACRES PINE SEEDLINGS

White, Norway and jackpine planting stock for close to 7,000 acres of state forest land will be available at Higgins Lake nursery this spring it was announced by the Forestry division, Department of Conservation.

As soon as ground conditions are favorable the seedlings will be removed from their nursery plots and set out by Civilian Conservation Corps crews in the 12 state forests.

During the coming autumn, the forestry division reported nursery stock for at least 30,000 acres will be available for planting in state forests.

What Other Editors Have To Say

Dana of the New York Sun said at a meeting of the Wisconsin Editorial Association—Milwaukee—July 24, 1888:

That is what I mean by the power of the press; the power of speaking out the sentiment of the people, the voice of justice, the inspiration of wisdom, the determination of patriotism, and the heart of the whole people.

In this country our constitution puts into the hands of the executive officers of the government a tremendous authority. There is no king, no emperor, no autocrat in the world who wields such authority, such power, as the president of the United States.

We will suppose the time should come—God forbid that it ever should come—when there should be in the post of the president a man who has gained such influence over the hearts of the whole people that they become deaf to the suggestion of wisdom, and give to his ambition a free sway and an open field. Suppose that he should set aside, little by little, the restraints of the constitution. Suppose that he tramples upon that great principle of personal liberty which is the noblest inheritance that our fathers have left us, because it is the very life of the republic; suppose he tramples down that principle; the executive power in his hands, even the courts incline to subservience, the army follows and obeys him.

Where, then, is the safeguard of the public against his ambitions? It is in the press. When every other bulwark is gone, the free press remains to preserve the liberties we mean shall be handed down to our children, and to maintain, let us hope, the republic in all its majesty and glory for ever and ever.

IS PROHIBITION RETURNING?

That prohibition is already on its return is clearly evident from the disregard for all respect for all law and order, even to the extent of wringing from Frank A. Picard, chairman of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, the statement, that "If we can't keep the business clean, then I, despite the fact that I am a wet will be one of the hundreds of thousands of other wets who will vote to bring back prohibition."

If Mr. Picard and his wet friends are sincere, as we believe they must be, there will be a great many more, who are not wet but who helped to vote out prohibition because they had been made to believe prohibition a failure, who will vote for its return because liquor is even a much greater failure.

And just why should not legal liquor be a much greater failure? Is there anyone who can produce evidence that those actively engaged in its "merchandising" have any respect for law and is it not a fact that every vendor of liquor tries at every turn to evade the law in order to acquire gain, and is it not a fact that his patrons will turn every hand to bring about that aim? And this is beside the element of morals, which is even worse.

Liquor goes hand in hand with every manner of vice and crime, but it shuns the just and upright just as the just and upright shun it. The old type saloon has justly been characterized by one of our late departed citizens as "the portal of hell", the headquarters for the prince of lies in whom there is no truth, who can understand no truth. That brazen "serpent" is again rearing its head only to again have it crushed—A. VanKovering in the Zee-land Record.

NEW YORK PLANS TO OUTLAW ITS SLUMS

Projects Under Way Will Cost Many Millions.

New York.—They are going to out-law slums in New York city—some day—maybe.

The big drive toward this Utopian goal is already under way. After many years of agitating, planning, bickering and otherwise mulling over the problem, the city has finally cut loose with measures definitely designed to eliminate two of the so-called "plague spots" with modern housing developments and is turning over a third with a view to early action of some kind. At least two other projects are under consideration.

The five enterprises look to the expenditure of something like $75,000,000 on up-to-date, fireproof, sanitary housing to provide cheap rental living quarters to replace the rat-infested, disease-breeding hovels and tumble-down rookeries now disgracing the affected localities or but lately removed preparatory to the "developments."

City Government Aids. While none of the so-called "elimination" plans is a city project, the municipal government is lending its aid and encouragement to the movement in a general way and is undertaking to help out with street closing and tax exemptions, leaving the financing and management of the houses to private capital. Most of the schemes, incidentally, are conditioned on the outcome of applications for loans from the Federal Reconstruction Finance corporation as well as on petitions for city aid in the way of tax exemptions, etc.

One of them, I. e., the Fred F. French Operators plan for replacing the so-called "Lung Block" on Manhattan's East side with a $9,300,000 development, to be known as "Knickerbocker Village" has already obtained an H. P. C. loan for $8,075,000 as a running start toward actual fulfillment. In announcing its approval of the loan, the corporation's board had some nice things to say of the project, among them observing that:

"The site of the development is in the heart of New York city's heaviest tuberculosis casualty areas of the period immediately preceding and following the turn of the century."

The building of a modern, clean, light, apartment community will eliminate a potential disease-spreading block of buildings. The "Lung Block" alone accounted for 291 cases of tuberculosis between the years 1894-1904. Only two houses of the block have been free from the disease."

Each building of the village will be of hollow square construction, providing a large interior court. Light and sunshine will be insured for every apartment.

It is estimated that this project will furnish employment to about 10,000 men directly or indirectly for a year or more.

Plan Cheap Rentals.

Another project on the way to actual fulfillment is known as the Christie-Forsyth street development plan, looking to the improvement of some seven blocks of the lower East side—five of them with modern apartments for "rock-bottom" rentals to white-collar workers and other two with parks.

The total estimated investment in the buildings will therefore be $8,289,708. The published value of $12,789,708 for the development was explained recently as including a figure of $3,500,000 to represent the value of the city leasehold.

Another slum elimination project that is looking up in spite of the depression is that known as the Rutgers plan, which involves the proposed expenditure of some $40,000,000 in a model housing development on the East side, just below Manhattan bridge.

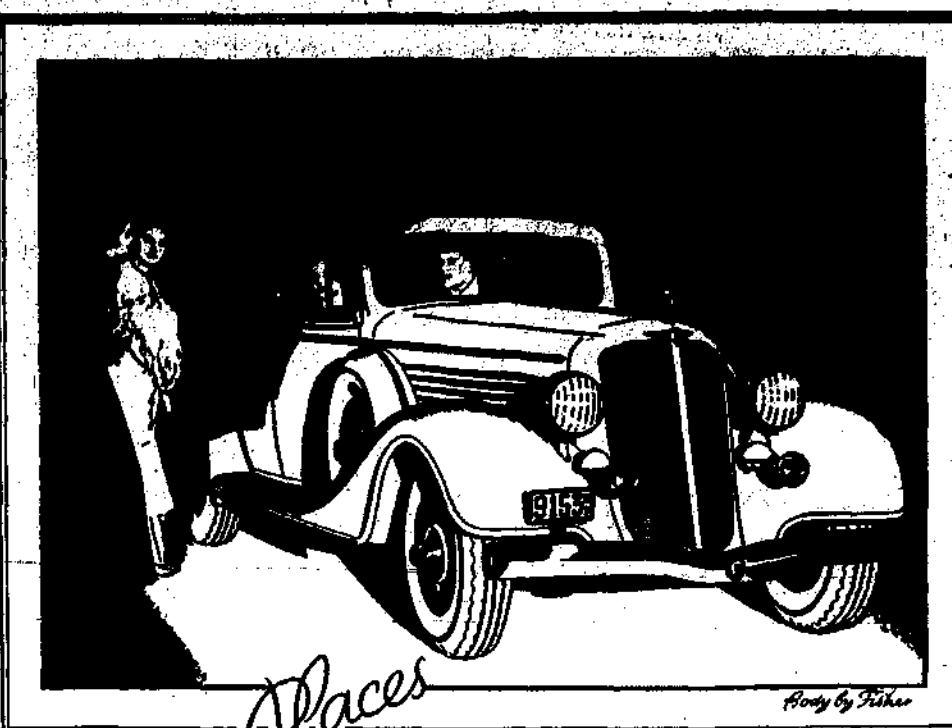

The development plan includes an interior park and roof playgrounds. Each building is to be a separate unit 15 stories high. Backers of the project are withholding a start of operations, pending action on their application for tax exemption. The Hillside Housing corporation has the plans all drawn for a big housing project to wipe out a slum area in the Bronx, but there has been some hitch in its plans for wheeling a $4,000,000 loan out of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the enterprise is not going so well.

Other projects in a more or less nebulous state look to the elimination of slum areas in Brooklyn and Queens.

Mallard Duck Attacks

Workers to Protect Nest Bend, Ore.—A mallard duck, whose setting of eggs was strategically located in an important part of the Shevlin-Hixon lumber mill, almost upset plans for reopening the mill. She attacked all workers who came near her nest and refused to be budged from it. The problem finally was solved by moving the planks upon which her nest was built.

Jewelers Turn Junk Dealers Bangor, Maine.—This city's jewelers have been obliged to take out licenses as "junk dealers" because they have begun to advertise, "Wanted—Old Gold."

Buick is going places this year. The public recognizes in Buick a new kind of motoring, finer as well as different—with all the unfailing dependability and performance for which Buick is noted. . . . Without question, this finer motoring begins with the gliding ride as only Buick gives it. Safety and convenience and ease, in the form of Buick's new center point steering, its new vacuum power brakes and its new automatic starting, go hand in hand with the alluring beauty of Buick's new styling in the symmetrical windstream manner. . . . The dominating feature of Buick ownership is satisfaction, gratifying and enduring. The buyer knows that Buick owners regard their cars with something like the affection they give to a friend. Don't you want to own the car which will be a true friend as long as you have it?

FACING THE MUSIC

The National Recovery Administration asked the critics of the New Deal to come to Washington and express their views. They came, and they "cracked down" hard on the provisions of the different codes. The result is that the President stepped into the grand stand to direct the code orchestras. General Johnson's 519 codes aren't as perfect as that explosive gentleman evidently believed they were.

Now the questions arise as to what to do about shortening maximum hours, increasing minimum wages improving enforcement of labor provisions, and compelling obedience to the whole program under which the Government is seeking to control and manage the affairs of a free people.

General Johnson seems to have been convinced that there are a good many sour notes in his orchestra. Still, it is evident, that industrial America is standing pat; and nearly everyone is patiently praying that the New Deal may be successful.

Fashions Go Mexican

As we look forward toward the fashion trends of the coming spring, what do we find? Well, we discover that the dictators of the modes are going south of the Rio Grande for their ideas. Here is a pull-over blouse of giddy Mexican colors in stripes on a soft silk fabric. It is something like this that goes rather well with a natural shantung coat and skirt or a town and country tweed.
